Republic of Tatarstan, Laishevsky district, village. Bolshie Kabany, st. Exhibition, 1*

MAY 12 (TUESDAY)

16:30-17:30
Kazan City Hall

14th Meeting of the Russian-Indonesian Joint Commission on Trade, Economic and Technical Cooperation

Access to the event is restricted (according to protocol lists).

The Intergovernmental Russian-Indonesian Commission is a key coordinating mechanism for the development of bilateral relations between Russia and Indonesia. Its tasks include not only discussing, but also practical solutions to issues related to the expansion of trade, economic, investment, industrial, energy, infrastructure, financial, scientific, technological, tourism and humanitarian cooperation.

The meeting is of particular interest to representatives of government authorities, industry associations, export-oriented companies and research centers, as it allows them to see how the interstate dialogue is transformed into instruments of real cooperation. For the business community, participation in such an event is valuable not only for the content of the speeches, but also for the opportunity to grasp the long-term architecture of the economic priorities of the two countries, shaping the contours of future joint projects.

Co-Chairman from the Russian side: Denis Manturov, First Deputy Chairman of the Government of the Russian Federation.

Co-Chair from the Indonesian side: Airlangga Hartarto, Coordinating Minister for Economic Affairs of the Republic of Indonesia.

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION

13:00-14:30

Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 1, 2nd floor

A2. The first Meeting of the Russian-Afghan Working Group on Trade and Economic Cooperation

Organizer: Ministry of Industry and Trade of the Russian Federation.

Access to the session is limited (according to separate lists).

The task of the working group is to translate geographical proximity and historical logistics links into the language of specific contracts and transit agreements.

Participants will focus on three practical tracks: launching regular supplies of food and energy resources, simplifying phytosanitary and customs procedures, and finding sustainable settlement models that are convenient for businesses on both sides. Special attention is paid to the potential of Afghanistan as a transit bridge for Russian goods to South Asian markets.

What are the first practical steps outlined by the participants of the working group to launch regular food and energy supplies between Russia and Afghanistan? What is the potential of Afghanistan as a transit corridor for Russian goods to South Asian markets, and what joint logistics projects could implement this?

The meeting aims to create a predictable, depoliticized framework for mutual trade, where success is measured not by statements, but by the number of issued waybills and launched joint logistics routes.

15:00-17:00

Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 1, 2nd floor

A3. Business Dialogue: Russia – Indonesia

Organizer: Ministry of Industry and Trade of the Russian Federation.

The business dialogue is dedicated to cooperation in shipbuilding, pharmaceutical industry, medical equipment, digital technologies, cybersecurity and smart city solutions. A meaningful reinforcement of the description allows us to see in this meeting not just an exchange of remarks, but a strategic conversation about how two large economies can institutionalize trust, lower market barriers, and turn political goodwill into measurable business results.

What specific projects are already being worked out between Russian and Indonesian companies, and what conditions are needed for their early implementation? In which areas of cooperation is it most realistic to expect the first joint pilot projects in the near future, and what mechanisms can accelerate their launch?

Moderator: Alexander Masaltsev, Trade Representative of the Russian Federation in the Republic of Indonesia.

Speakers:

- Didit Ratam, Head of the Bilateral Committee of Russia and Belarus, Indonesian Chamber of Commerce and Industry (KADIN);
- Edi Rianto, General Manager of Strategic Corporate Planning at PAL Indonesia Shipbuilding Company (online);

ECONOMY

13:00–14:30

Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 2, 2nd floor

B2. Living standards of the population: modern challenges and development vectors

Organizer: Ministry of Labor, Employment and Social Protection of the Republic of Tatarstan.

The standard of living of the population is not only income statistics, but also the ability of the state to quickly respond to the vulnerability of families, create working elevators for the unemployed and help those who cannot help themselves. At this session, three countries — Russia, Uzbekistan, and Tajikistan — will present measurable social support mechanisms rather than declarations on the same platform for the first time.

The Russian Federation will share modern approaches to poverty assessment (including multidimensional poverty beyond income) and a system of measures to support the population, from social contracts to digital services. The Republic of Tatarstan will show a regional cross-section: how targeted assistance is built in practice, combining federal standards and local specifics.

Uzbekistan will present a model for promoting the employment of the unemployed — informal and formal, with an emphasis on training, subsidies and involvement in productive work. Tajikistan will talk about social policy aimed at vulnerable and low-income groups in conditions of migration dependence and limited budgetary resources.

How can well-being be measured where official statistics do not reflect reality? Is it possible to copy a social contract from Russia to Uzbekistan or Tajikistan without loss of effectiveness? And most importantly, how can we make social assistance not an eternal burden, but a temporary springboard out of poverty?

The session is intended for relevant ministries, social agencies, regional managers and international organizations working on sustainable development goals.

Moderator: Vladimir Kutilov, General Director of the Limited Liability Company AMK THEORY of DARWIN.

Speakers:

- Pudov Andrey, State Secretary – Deputy Minister of Labor and Social Protection of the Russian Federation;
- Ovcharova Lilia, Vice-Rector of the National Research University Higher School of Economics;
- Zaripova Elmira, Minister of Labor, Employment and Social Protection of the Republic of Tatarstan;

15:00–17:00 Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 2, 2nd floor	B3. Actual problems of the Islamic financial model Organizer: Lomonosov Moscow State University. The Islamic financial model is growing exponentially, but its academic foundation is still shaken by internal contradictions. The Faculty of Economics of Lomonosov Moscow State University invites you to a frank conversation about the "blind spots" of the industry. Experts from Moscow State University and leading practitioners of Islamic finance will engage in a discussion about methodological conflicts: why classical economics is not always friendly with partner finance, how to combine strict Sharia norms with the Russian Civil Code, and where does efficiency disappear when trying to standardize everything? A separate section is the personnel crisis: where to get financiers who simultaneously understand derivative financial instruments and fiqh. This is a session with no ready answers, but with an honest diagnosis of the industry. Why does the Islamic monetary system require a complete overhaul and how does it fundamentally differ from the fiat one? How to combine climate risks and Islamic investment — and why does ESG not work, but the quality approach gives results? What prevents the launch of "Islamic windows" in Russian banks and what international experience can be adapted today? Where can I get staff for Islamic finance in Russia and how should university education change? Moderator: Magomet Yandiev, Associate Professor, Faculty of Economics, Moscow State University Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ruslan Khaliullin, Expert at the Russian Center for Islamic Economics and Finance at the Russian Islamic Institute; • Kabir Hassan, Professor, University of New Orleans; • Rasul Musaevev, Professor, Faculty of Economics, Lomonosov Moscow State University; • Dr. Rizwan Malik, Director of the Bahrain Institute of Banking and Finance; • Guliyev Iqbal Adil Oglu, Dean of the Faculty of Financial Economics, Moscow State Institute of International Relations, Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation; • Yulduz Magomedova, Associate Professor at the Faculty of Economics of Lomonosov Moscow State University.
ISLAMIC FINANCE AND INVESTMENTS
13:00-14:30 Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 3, 2nd floor	C2. Islamic FINTECH: Digital Ethics Organizer:The Russian Islamic Institute. Islamic fintech is growing 2 times faster than traditional fintech, but its main challenges lie not in technology, but in regulation, standardization and customer trust.

The Russian Islamic Institute presents a session with participants who have actually launched cross-border Islamic fintech projects. The focus is on adapting products to different national regulatory environments, scaling models without a single Sharia standard, digital tools for attracting investments and working with clients in a multi-religious environment. What key factors contribute to the growth of Islamic fintech today and set it apart from traditional financial technologies? What are the main challenges for the development of Islamic fintech solutions - in terms of regulation, standardization and customer trust?

The outcome of the session is specific scenarios that can be adapted to your business.

HALAL INDUSTRY

15:00–17:00

Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 3, 2nd floor

C3. Closed-loop Bioeconomics: Halal and organic products as drivers of innovation

Organizer: Federal State Budgetary Educational Institution of Higher Education "Kazan State Agrarian University" (KGAU).

Halal and organic products have long been perceived as niche markets with strict restrictions. Today they are becoming a laboratory for the entire food industry. Why? Because the requirements of halal certification and the organic standard are not prohibitions, but a system of total quality control, traceability and purity. This is exactly what the modern consumer expects from a manufacturer in any country.

Key issues of the session: how to combine disparate Halal standards from different countries into a system that is understandable to both the manufacturer and the consumer? Can organic products be competitive without subsidies? And most importantly, how can Tatarstan take the place of a regional hub for halal and organic products in the OIC market? The session is organized for manufacturers, certification bodies, processors, retailers and investors who see the halal and organic sector not as fashion, but as an economy.

Moderator: Farida Nezhmetdinova, Head of the Department of Philosophy and Law of Kazan State Agrarian University.

Welcome speech:

- Rifkat Minnikhanov, President of the Academy of Sciences of the Republic of Tatarstan;
- Nuriev Ilshat, Rector of Kazan State Agrarian University;

15:30-17:00

Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 3, 2nd floor

C3. The club of investors of the Russian Venture Fund

Organizer: Investment and Venture Fund of the Republic of Tatarstan.

In the era of a multipolar economy, effective cross-border partnerships require new investment structures. Traditional direct investments are giving way to hybrid coinvestment pools that combine the capital of sovereign wealth funds of the OIC countries, Russian business and international institutional investors. What qualities and characteristics of a startup in the context of a limited presentation time most often become crucial for a business angel when making a decision about investing funds? Three minutes is exactly the time each startup has for a business angel to say yes.

Participants will receive short presentations of promising startups from the fields of biotech, biometrics, medicine and industry — an opportunity to evaluate projects through the eyes of an investor and understand the logic of quick venture decisions.

Moderator: Galiev Damir, Director of the Investment and Venture Fund of the Republic of Tatarstan.

Speakers (project presentations):

- Konyashina Anna, General Director of Dobrohim Limited Liability Company;

STATE AND POWER

10:00-11:30
Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 5, 2nd floor

E1. Public procurement: new challenges and exchange of experience

Organizer: The State Committee of the Republic of Tatarstan for Procurement, an autonomous non-profit organization of additional professional education "Siberian Institute of State and Municipal Management" (ANO DPO "SibIGMU").

Public procurement is a key mechanism for allocating budgetary resources and ensuring public needs, from the supply of medicines to infrastructure projects. In the context of the current geopolitical and economic turbulence, the industry is facing challenges that require rapid adaptation of regulatory and procedural standards.

What coordination mechanisms at the international level have shown the greatest effectiveness in the face of sanctions restrictions? The session brings together representatives of the contract systems of Russia, Turkey and Belarus to discuss applied issues of international cooperation in the field of public procurement. The discussion focuses on building cross-border supply chains in the context of sanctions restrictions, mechanisms for transferring institutional experience without duplicating system errors, as well as finding a balance between transparency of procurement and excessive administrative barriers.

Moderator: Tatiana Roerich, Rector of the Siberian Institute of State and Municipal Management, an autonomous non-profit organization for Additional Professional Education, Director General of RPG-Consult, expert, lawyer and practitioner in the field of procurement.

Speakers:

13:00-14:30 Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 5, 2nd floor	E2. Prohibition of israf (waste) as the basis of the economy. Land as an investment in the future Organizer: Joint Stock Company "Ammoni Stock Company". The Islamic economy does not start with banks or sukuk. It begins with the prohibition of waste. Do not waste too much, do not overspend resources, do not take more from the earth than it can give. Today, this principle is becoming not only an ethical norm, but also a strict economic necessity. The Ammonium company, a producer of mineral fertilizers, gathers chemists, agrarians, IT developers and Islamic financiers at one table. What for? Because land is no longer just an asset. It becomes a long-term investment, where the rules of the game are dictated not by speculation, but by real yields, conservation of fertility and careful use of each hectare. How can agricultural land be valued so that the price includes not only current income, but also future depletion risks? How to attract ethical investments in the agricultural industry without slipping into green PR? And how can a ban on waste be turned into a competitive advantage rather than a limitation? Moderator: Vsevolod Bebutov, CEO, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Azot Group of Companies. Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Vyacheslav Leonov, Director of the Department of Land Policy, Property Relations and State Property of the Ministry of Agriculture of the Russian Federation; • Makarov Dmitry, General Director of the Joint-Stock Company "Ammoni Stock Company"; • Kudinova Anna, Executive Director of the Limited Liability Company "Itysphere"; • Irina Lazukova, Executive Director of the Pacioli Consulting Limited Liability Company; • Baydaulet Yerlan, Vice-President, National Academy of Agrarian Sciences of the Republic of Kazakhstan, Professor; • Kashirin Luka, Head of the Directorate of Physical Trading in Base Metals, VTB PJSC; • Representative of Sberbank Public Joint Stock Company; • Novoselov Vladislav, Managing Director, Partner of BEFL Limited Liability Company.
15:00-17:00 Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Hall 5, 2nd floor	E3. The role of anti-corruption policy in the development of public administration and the economy Organizer: Department for Anti-Corruption Politics of the Rais (Head) of the Republic of Tatarstan. Corruption remains one of the key barriers to sustainable socio-economic development. An effective anti-corruption policy not only reduces risks for business and the state, but also increases public confidence in government institutions, creates favorable conditions for investment and international cooperation.

What approaches to monitoring and reducing corruption risks have already proven effective in Russia and abroad, and what prevents their scaling? How can we build productive cooperation between government, business and civil society? The session is devoted to discussing topical issues of identifying, monitoring and reducing corruption risks as a necessary condition for the sustainable development of Russia and the countries of the Islamic world. Participants in the open dialogue — representatives of government, business and civil society — will share their experiences and effective practices in implementing anti-corruption compliance in organizations.

F1. Economic integration of Russia and Pakistan in the Eurasian context

Organizer: Federal State Autonomous Educational Institution of Higher Education "Kazan (Volga Region) Federal University" (KFU).

In the context of the transformation of global logistics chains and geopolitical changes, Russia and Pakistan are gaining new opportunities to deepen economic cooperation. Traditionally viewed as peripheral to key trade routes, both countries can now play a significant role in shaping the polycentric economic architecture of Eurasia.

Which sectors of the economy have the greatest potential for deepening trade and economic cooperation between Russia and Pakistan, taking into account the current geopolitical changes and the needs of both countries? What mechanisms of international and regional cooperation (including within the framework of the EAEU, SCO and other formats) can strengthen the economic integration of Russia and Pakistan and reduce the impact of external restrictions?

Moderator: Faisal Javaid, Director of the International Office and Mass Communications of the Federal University of Arts, Science and Technology Urdu (Pakistan).

Speakers:

- Bakirova Gulnaz, Associate Professor, PhD, Federal State Budgetary Educational Institution of Higher Education "Kazan (Volga Region) Federal University", Institute of International Relations, History and Oriental Studies;

Humanitarian presence in the countries of the Islamic world - new tools The organizer: Federal Agency for the Commonwealth of Independent States, Compatriots Living Abroad, and International Humanitarian Cooperation (Rossotrudnichestvo).

In the context of the transformation of international relations, municipal diplomacy is coming to the fore. Twin cities, public diplomacy, cultural and educational exchanges are becoming not just a backdrop for big politics, but an independent instrument of influence. But the old mechanisms don't work the way they used to, and the new ones haven't been tested yet.

This round table will bring together those who form and implement Russia's humanitarian presence in the countries of the Islamic world: representatives of the Russian Foreign Ministry, the Kazan Mayor's Office, the Moscow government, deputies of the State Duma, heads of partner Russian houses in Iraq, Oman, Libya, Mali, Niger and other countries, as well as the Spiritual Administration of Muslims.

What models of interaction between Russian houses in the Islamic world and twin cities have already shown their effectiveness, and what elements of these models can be scaled or adapted for other territories?

The main task of the session: to form an understanding and practical approaches to the involvement of partner Russian houses in the development of cooperation between twin cities, as well as to identify possible models and formats of such interaction.

Moderator: Pavel Shevtsov, Deputy Head of the Federal Agency for the Commonwealth of Independent States, Compatriots Living Abroad, and International Humanitarian Cooperation (Rossotrudnichestvo).

Speakers:

G2. The first meeting of the Working Group on Science and Higher Education between the Russian Federation and the OIC
Organizer: Ministry of Science and Higher Education of the Russian Federation (Ministry of Education and Science of the Russian Federation), Federal State Autonomous Educational Institution of Higher Education "Kazan (Volga Region) Federal University" (KFU).

On October 24, 2022, Russia and the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) signed a memorandum of understanding in the field of science and higher education.

As a follow-up to the agreements reached, the first meeting of the relevant working group will be held on May 13, 2026 in the capital of the Republic of Tatarstan, the multinational and multi-religious city of Kazan.

The meeting focused on the development of academic mobility, cooperation within the framework of the climate agenda, ensuring researchers' access to large scientific infrastructures and projects of the "megascience" class, as well as the organization of multilateral research project competitions.

The main task of the session: The first meeting of the Working Group is aimed at coordinating further cooperation between Russia and the OIC Member States in areas of mutual interest. The event is offered as part of the implementation of the provisions of the Memorandum of Understanding and cooperation in the field of science and higher education between the Ministry of Education and Science of the Russian Federation and the OIC dated October 24, 2022.

Access to the session is limited (according to separate lists).

G3. New formats of academic cooperation between Russia and the OIC countries

Organizer: Federal State Autonomous Educational Institution of Higher Education "Kazan (Volga Region) Federal University" (KFU).

Russian universities have long been doing more than just sending students abroad for internships. They are opening branches in Uzbekistan, launching networking programs with universities in Islamic countries, and creating Russian language centers in places where they were only talked about five years ago. But there is still no systematic understanding of what works and what doesn't, which formats give real results, and which remain beautiful reports.

The main question is: how to make Russia's academic presence in the OIC countries not a one-time project, but a sustainable system? Branches are expensive and difficult. Online programs are cheaper, but how are they recognized at home and abroad? Russian language centers are in demand, but who finances them?

The purpose of the event: to develop the activities of branches of Russian educational organizations abroad, Russian language centers, the implementation of educational networks jointly with universities of the OIC countries, and other forms of Russia's academic presence in the OIC countries.

Moderator: Timirkhan Alishev, Vice-Rector for External Relations of the Federal State Autonomous Educational Institution of Higher Education Kazan (Volga Region) Federal University (KFU).

J1. World-class Russian educational programs: Alabuga for foreign citizens

Organizer: Alabuga Special Economic Zone.

The Alabuga Special Economic Zone presents world-class Russian educational programs for foreign citizens. The Alabuga Polytech dual training system and the Alabuga Start international project (44 participating countries) allow students from the second year to work in real production, receiving a salary and a full social package. How can this experience be scaled to the countries of the Islamic world? How to ensure a balance between the requirements of the international labor market and national educational standards when implementing the "study + work" model in the countries of the Islamic world, taking into account cultural and institutional characteristics?

Moderator: Aida Zaripova, Head of the International Business Development Department at Bank Tochka Joint Stock Company.

J2. Muslim historical and cultural heritage: a driver of regional economic development and international tourism

Organizer: Academy of Sciences of the Republic of Tatarstan (Academy of Sciences of the Republic of Tatarstan).

The Muslim heritage is not only ancient manuscripts, mosques and artifacts. This is an asset that, with proper management, begins to work for the economy: it attracts tourists, creates jobs, forms the brand of the territory and opens channels for international cultural cooperation.

The Academy of Sciences of the Republic of Tatarstan gathers archaeologists, restorers, museum workers, tourism managers and representatives of international organizations on its site. The session focuses on new results of Muslim archaeology (including discoveries in Tatarstan and other regions), as well as applied issues.: How can heritage sites be included in tourist routes so that they generate income, and not only require budget financing?

A separate section is international cooperation. How can we build joint projects for the conservation and popularization of heritage, taking into account the differences in regulation, financing and cultural approaches? Which formats of cooperation (exhibitions, grants, internships) actually work, and which remain a declaration?

Moderator: Airat Sitdikov, Full Member of the Academy of Sciences of the Republic of Tatarstan.

Speakers:

- Minnikhanov Rifkat, President of the Academy of Sciences of the Republic of Tatarstan;
- Ivan Gushchin, Chairman of the Committee of the Republic of Tatarstan for the Protection of Cultural Heritage Sites;

J3. The club of investors of the Russian Venture Fund

Organizer: Investment and Venture Fund of the Republic of Tatarstan.

In the era of a multipolar economy, effective cross-border partnerships require new investment structures. Traditional direct investments are giving way to hybrid coinvestment pools that combine the capital of sovereign wealth funds of the OIC countries, Russian business and international institutional investors. What qualities and characteristics of a startup in the context of a limited presentation time most often become crucial for a business angel when making a decision about investing funds? Three minutes is exactly the time each startup has for a business angel to say yes.

Participants will receive short presentations of promising startups from the fields of biotech, biometrics, medicine and industry — an opportunity to evaluate projects through the eyes of an investor and understand the logic of quick venture decisions.

Moderator: Galiev Damir, Director of the Investment and Venture Fund of the Republic of Tatarstan.

Speakers (project presentations):

WORKSHOP AAOIFI

10:00-17:00

Kazan Expo, Cluster A, 12 halls, 2 floors

L1-L3. Sukuk structuring, management and financial reporting in accordance with AAOIFI standards

Organizer: AAOIFI Organization for Accounting and Auditing of Islamic Financial Institutions.

Sukuk is one of the most complex and at the same time sought-after instruments of the Islamic financial market. But the success of the sukuk issue depends not only on the approval of the Sharia council. The key risks lie in the structuring, asset management and correct financial reporting. This is where discrepancies between investors' expectations and actual execution most often arise.

AAOIFI— a global developer of standards in the field of Islamic accounting, auditing and management, is conducting a workshop that closes this gap. The format is not lecture-based: from concept to case study.

Participants go through a full cycle: from asset selection and legal design to post-issue management and reporting according to AAOIFI standards. The end-to-end case allows you to face real problems in practice.: what should I do if the asset ceases to generate income, how to disclose information in case of partial early repayment, and how to meet the requirements of the regulator, sharia law, and international standards?

Workshop Instructors:

- Andrey Zhuravlev, Senior Researcher at the Institute of Oriental Studies of the Russian Academy of Sciences;
- Muzaffar Khusnudinov, CEO of mezon Kengashi (Uzbekistan);
- Khondamir Nusratkhuzhayev, Head of Accounting and Reporting Department, Islamic Development Bank (ISDB)

Congress of Ministers of Culture of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation Countries

Organizer: Ministry of Culture of the Russian Federation, Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Tatarstan.

Access to the event is limited (according to the protocol list).

The central question is: how to balance tradition and openness, religious norms and multicultural reality, national heritage and the global cultural market? Especially at times when some are trying to abolish Russian culture, while others are trying to impose alien values on the Islamic world under the guise of universal ones.

"The Art of Dialogue: the role of Russia and the countries of the Islamic world in preserving world culture" is the theme of the year. Russia and the countries of the Islamic world have a unique historical experience of coexistence of different cultures and religions on the same territory. This experience is in demand today more than ever. Participants will discuss specific mechanisms for heritage preservation, educational programs on intercultural literacy and the role of culture in social cohesion — from Tatarstan to Senegal, from Indonesia to Bosnia.

Declared Ministers:

- Lyubimova Olga, Minister of Culture of the Russian Federation;
- Paul Ulrich Kesani, Minister of Youth, Sports, Cultural and Art Promotion, Responsible for Public Affairs in Gabon;
- Daud Aweis Jama, Minister of Information, Culture and Tourism of Somalia;

Living Heritage: a dialogue of cultures in the Era of globalization — from identification to international recognition: strategies, cases and prospects for working with objects of intangible ethnocultural heritage of the Islamic world in the context of the UNESCO World Heritage List

Organizer: The Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Tatarstan, the State Budgetary Institution Tatcultresurscenter.

The session is a discussion platform in the field of preservation and promotion of objects of intangible ethno-cultural heritage (ONED). The session focuses on the unique heritage of the Islamic world, which, on the one hand, is a deep expression of religious and ethnic identity, and, on the other, an important resource for intercultural dialogue in the context of globalization. The session will be structured around several key topics, such as a strategy for identifying and preserving "living" heritage in the modern world, where special attention will be paid to the role of local communities as the main bearers of traditions and the need for a balance between authenticity and adaptation; practical cases of successful work with objects of intangible ethnocultural heritage of the Islamic world — from traditional crafts and performing arts from arts to rituals and holidays — with an analysis of both successful nominations to UNESCO lists and projects for their livelihood at the national level; prospects, consideration of new formats of popularization, digitalization and educational use of heritage. During the discussion, the participants will discuss the following issues:

What are the 2-3 key factors that determine the success of the nomination of intangible heritage sites of the Islamic world to the UNESCO list?

How can local communities participate more effectively in the preservation and transmission of ethno—cultural traditions, and what support tools do they need?

The outcome of the session should be not only a meaningful discussion, but also the formation of specific recommendations and, possibly, a roadmap for strengthening the role of the intangible ethno-cultural heritage of the Islamic world in the global cultural agenda, strengthening dialogue and mutual understanding between peoples.

A5. Promotion of Russian products in the Islamic world

Partner organizers: The Ministry of Industry and Trade of the Russian Federation, the Autonomous Non-profit Organization Roskachestvo.

Russian exports to the countries of the Islamic world are growing, but the potential has not been fully exploited. Why? Because "just taking out the goods" is not enough. It is necessary to understand halal certification, adapt packaging and labeling to the requirements of a particular country, build logistics and, most importantly, gain the trust of a consumer who will not buy a product if he doubts its compliance with the standards.

The Ministry of Industry and Trade of Russia and Roskachestvo gather at the same site those who form the export policy and those who implement it on the ground.

	The key question of the session: how to make sure that the Russian manufacturer is not afraid to enter the OIC markets, and the consumer in Jakarta or Istanbul chooses "Made in Russia" not because it is cheaper, but because he trusts. Moderator: Suvorovskaya Maria Sergeevna, Editor-in-Chief of the Russian Business Guide, Honorary Representative of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry in Azerbaijan. Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Roman Chekushov, State Secretary – Deputy Minister of Industry and Trade of the Russian Federation; • Maxim Protasov, Head of the Autonomous Non-profit Organization "Russian Quality System"; • Lavrentieva Anna, Senior Vice President of Joint Stock Company JSCB NOVIKOMBANK; • Kogogina Alfiya, First Deputy Chairman of the State Duma Committee on Small and Medium-sized Enterprises; • Dmitry Tafintsev, Director of the Department for Interaction with Government Authorities of the RVB Limited Liability Company; • Ahmet Burak Daghlioglu, Chairman of the Investment and Financial Office (Management) of the Administration of the President of the Republic of Turkey; • Anna Meleshina, Managing Director of Magnit Public Joint Stock Company; • Sezai Ucharmak, Deputy Minister of Trade of the Republic of Turkey.

Cultural diplomacy as a tool for rapprochement between Russia and Africa Organizer: International Public Organization "Center for the organization of scientific and cultural events in the field of public diplomacy". Africa is a continent with a powerful cultural, linguistic and civilizational diversity. And to build a long-term partnership, contracts alone are not enough. Cultural diplomacy is needed: education, art, museum exchanges, and joint creative projects. They create the very fabric of trust, without which any memorandum remains on paper. The Center for Public Diplomacy gathers ministers of Culture, Tourism and Communications from Burkina Faso, Togo, Mali, Sierra Leone, as well as members of the parliaments of Ghana and Sierra Leone in Kazan. The Russian side is represented at a high level. The session focuses not on general words about the friendship of peoples, but on specific mechanisms: educational exchanges, cultural projects (festivals, exhibitions, theater tours), joint museum initiatives, and training for culture and tourism. Key issues: Educational exchanges: how many African students in the field of culture and arts are ready to accept Russian universities in 2026? What joint cultural projects (festivals, exhibitions, tours) should become the hallmark of the Russian-African partnership? How can the success of cultural diplomacy be measured: by the number of signed memoranda, the growth of the tourist flow, or the strengthening of Russia's political position in Africa?

Moderator: Leonid Markovich Isaev, Scientific Director of the Center for Public Diplomacy, Doctor of Political Sciences, Professor at the Higher School of Economics Research University, Senior Researcher at the Institute of Africa of the Russian Academy of Sciences.

Speakers:

- Dmitry Ivanovich Saveliev, Director General of the Center for Public Diplomacy, Deputy of the State Duma of the Federal Assembly of the Russian Federation, Member of the State Duma Committee on International Affairs, Coordinator of the deputy group of the State Duma for interaction with the Parliaments of Burkina Faso, the Republic of Mali and the Republic of Ghana;

B5. Russia–Ghana Round Table

Organizer: Ghana-Russian Center for Trade and Relations.

Ghana is one of the most stable and dynamically developing democracies in West Africa. Its reserves of gold, oil, gas, cocoa and a growing middle class make it not just an interesting partner, but a strategic gateway to the subregion. So far, Russian business has paid less attention to Ghana than it deserves. This round table is designed to remedy the situation. For the first time, key players shaping economic relations between Russia and Ghana are gathering on the same site. This is an attempt to launch the first ever Russia—Ghana systemic dialogue at the level of business practitioners, not just diplomats.

Key issues: What does Ghana need from Russia right now: investment, technology, education, or political support? Ghana Investment Promotion Center (GIPC): what preferences can a Russian investor really get and how quickly? Where can Russian technologies meet Ghana's needs — in generation, networks or renewable energy? How many Ghanaian students are willing to accept Russian universities under quotas and contracts? How to structure transactions between Ghana and Russia in the current conditions (currency, correspondent banks, clearing)?

Moderator: John Aggrey, Chief Executive Officer, Ghana-Russian Center for Trade and Relations.

Speakers:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • His Excellency Dr. Koma Steam Jehu-Appiah, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Ghana to the Russian Federation; • Moiseev Pavel, Rector of the Federal State Budgetary Educational Institution of Higher Education "Tambov State University named after G.R. C4. Ensuring freedom of economic activity and technological sovereignty in the context of the end of the era of globalization

Organizer: The Prosecutor General's Office of the Russian Federation.

Access to the event is limited (according to separate lists).

The Russian Federation's response to the unprecedented sanctions pressure from unfriendly countries has been the use of effective budget incentive mechanisms, while increasing the expenditure parts of budgets at all levels and strengthening legal protection mechanisms for socially responsible businesses.

The moderate conservative policy pursued by the country's leadership in the context of the transition to multipolarity is aimed at consistently solving social problems, ensuring predictable business conditions, as well as attracting investments in the modernization of production based on the domestic technological base.

For these purposes, prosecutors provide supervisory support for all measures provided in the Russian jurisdiction to support and stimulate entrepreneurial initiatives, as well as the formation of an easy-to-use and effective legal framework for the business community.

The international exchange of best practices with prosecutor's offices, anti-corruption and other competent agencies of foreign countries has been intensified.

Key questions: What is the coordinating role of the Russian Prosecutor's Office in building comfortable conditions for doing business? Why is the balance of interests of the state, society and business especially important today? What foreign experience can be used in the work of the Russian prosecutor's office?

And Hall 6, 2nd floor

F5. Export of Russian halal products: an impetus for the development of new markets

Organizer: Ministry of Agriculture of the Russian Federation.

Halal today includes meat and dairy products, confectionery and soft drinks, cosmetics and pharmaceuticals, logistics and certification. Russia, which has huge agricultural resources and a developed food industry, has every chance to take its rightful place in this market. The question is how to turn the potential into real export contracts?

The Ministry of Agriculture of the Russian Federation is launching the session as a direct dialogue platform between Russian producers and foreign importers, distributors, and investors. Without intermediaries. Without lengthy approvals. Only those who produce and those who buy.

The speakers are key players in the Russian and international halal industry.

The session is for Russian producers and exporters of agro-industrial products, foreign importers and distributors, investors, logisticians and certification bodies.

Moderator: Yakuba Alexander Nikolaevich, Advisor to the Head of the Federal Center "Agroexport"

Speakers:

H4. Investments, infrastructure, innovations: the role of SEZs in strengthening ties between Russia and Central Asia

Organizer: Association of Clusters, Technoparks and Special Economic Zones of Russia.

The BRICS countries are creating new formats of practical cooperation of global importance. The International Association of Special Economic Zones of the BRICS countries, initiated by Russia in 2024, has become one of the key instruments. Its goal is to develop effective territories with preferential treatment and assist in the localization of business on infrastructure-prepared sites.

The principles of this cooperation are fixed at the highest level. The Kazan Declaration on the results of the XVI Brics Summit, as well as the Rio de Janeiro Declaration on the results of the XVII Brics Summit, recognized the effectiveness of the SEZs of the BRICS countries as a well-established mechanism for trade and industrial cooperation and promotion of production development.

In addition, the BRICS Economic Partnership Strategy 2030, outlined in the Rio Declaration, defines the need to consolidate the principles of cooperation on issues related to the digital economy, international trade, and sustainable development. Work on the creation and development of special economic zones should also be continued with the countries of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC). The successful experience of deploying production from OIC countries in the territories of Russian special economic zones indicates that joint projects are a promising area of cooperation.

What specific steps and mechanisms make it possible to maximize the use of the SEZ potential to strengthen Russia's economic ties with the Central Asian states and expand cooperation within the framework of BRICS and the OIC?

Moderator: Mikhail Alexandrovich Labudin, Director of the Association of Clusters, Technoparks and SEZs of Russia

H5. The Greater Eurasian Partnership: a development strategy

Organizer :Russia—Islamic World Strategic Vision Group (GSV ROME), the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation, the Russian Presidential Academy of National Economy and Public Administration (RANEPA), and the International Organization for Eurasian Cooperation (MOEC).

The session is aimed at discussing issues related to the formation of a long-term vision of the Greater Eurasian Partnership (BEP), a large-scale initiative of the President of the Russian Federation, Vladimir Putin.

In a changing world, it is necessary to combine efforts and harmonize the joint steps of interested partners in order to act in Greater Eurasia, at the "crossroads" of the four oceans, a continent-wide space of economic growth, development and progress.

Within the framework of the dialogue between the state, business and the expert community, special attention will be paid to the role and contribution of representatives of the Islamic world to the unifying agenda, including at the level of international organizations such as the OIC, the Arab League, the GCC and integration formats with the participation of Muslim countries – the EAEU, the CIS, ASEAN and the SCO.

Specific projects, initiatives and tools that could create a strong fabric of business and public relations and ensure the interconnectedness of markets, supply chains and cooperation in Greater Eurasia on an open basis for the benefit of all and prosperity will be discussed in detail.

14. Tourism as a tool of economic cooperation between Russia and the OIC countries: from industrial routes to investment projects

Organizer: Chamber of Commerce and Industry of the Russian Federation (CCI of the Russian Federation).

Tourism is not just about beaches, excursions and hotels. This is a powerful tool of economic diplomacy that allows an investor to see the site with his own eyes, an industrialist to assess the partner's capacity, and a region to present itself not through powerpoint presentations, but through real production lines and infrastructure facilities.

The key idea is to use industrial and business tourism as a practical tool for deepening cooperation. The discussion focused on the creation and promotion of joint industrial routes, the attraction of Islamic capital and public-private partnership instruments in the tourism infrastructure, the export potential of Halal tourism, as well as the training of personnel for the implementation of projects. Special attention is paid to regional models of successful cooperation (Tatarstan, Bashkortostan, the North Caucasus) and overcoming existing barriers to the integration of tourism into the overall economic strategy of cooperation.

How can we maximize the potential of tourism, including industrial, business, and Halal tourism, to strengthen economic cooperation between Russia and the OIC countries and transform tourism initiatives into real investment projects?

J5. Russian Economy: new challenges and new opportunities in the era of sanctions and platforms

Organizer: Financial University under the Government of the Russian Federation.

In the context of unprecedented sanctions pressure and tectonic shifts in the global economy, Russia is shaping new development strategies, where partners from the Islamic world play a special role. The session will become a platform for analyzing the current state of the Russian economy, which demonstrates adaptability to external constraints and is looking for new footholds in the countries of the global South. The participants will discuss how digital transformation and the development of the platform economy create a window of opportunity to bypass infrastructure barriers. Special emphasis will be placed on the mechanisms of bilateral trade, investment cooperation and the introduction of Islamic financial instruments in the new realities. The discussion will touch upon issues of technological sovereignty and import substitution in the context of fragmentation of the global network. An important topic will be the role of Russian regions, especially Tatarstan, as hubs for the development of economic ties with the Islamic world. The session participants will be asked to predict the contours of a new architecture of international cooperation, where Russia and the Islamic world act as growth drivers.

The final products of the session: the resolution of the session (10-15 priority regulatory and design decisions); a matrix of risks and dependencies along critical chains.

J6. Tourism as a tool of cultural dialogue: the experience of Russia and Islamic countries

Organizer: The State Committee of the Republic of Tatarstan for Tourism

Travel is the most effective diplomacy because it strips stereotypes of their power. To see with your own eyes, to taste the local cuisine, to hear someone else's speech, to understand the logic of behavior is something that cannot be conveyed through news headlines. For Russia and the Islamic countries, separated by thousands of kilometers, differences in language and cultural codes, tourism is becoming not just an industry, but a strategic tool for mutual understanding.

The State Committee of the Republic of Tatarstan for Tourism gathers on its site those who build bridges across the isthmus. The key question of the session: how to turn tourism from a conversational topic into a real growing tourist flow from the OIC countries to Russia? What needs to be done, from visa policy and language navigation to training guides and setting up halal hotels? What experience of Tatarstan, Dagestan, Moscow, Kaluga region and the Caucasus can be scaled? And what is the role of media in overcoming stereotypes?

Moderator: Sergey Ivanov, Chairman of the State Committee for Tourism of the Republic of Tatarstan

Speakers:

K4. Horizontal diplomacy: new formats and a long-term friendship strategy

Organizers: Council of Young Diplomats of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation, ANO Academy of Youth Diplomacy.

The session is devoted to the role of "horizontal" diplomacy in the development of professional relations in the system of international relations. How can horizontal diplomacy become a stable foundation for multilateral cooperation, and what initiatives of young diplomats can set a long—term vector for friendship between countries?

During the discussion, the participants referred to building long-term relations in the international space, from international dialogue between regions and cities to cooperation between non-governmental institutions. Experts are discussing new formats of interaction in the international space: cross-cultural collaborations, scientific and technological alliances, as well as tools of public diplomacy. The result will be the formation of approaches to a long-term friendship strategy as a practical system of mutual interests, resistant to foreign policy conjuncture.

Moderator: Konstantin Kolpakov, Chairman of the Commission of the Public Council of Rossotrudnichestvo for International Humanitarian and Youth Cooperation.

Speakers:

- Yakovenko Alexander, Deputy General Director of the Russia Today Media Group, Head of the Committee on Global Issues and International Security of the Scientific and Expert Council of the Security Council of the Russian Federation;

K6. Diplomacy in the digital age

Organizers: Council of Young Diplomats of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation, ANO Academy of Youth Diplomacy.

Digital technologies play an important role in all professional fields of activity, including diplomatic, acting as a catalyst for a change in the communication paradigm: they transform the ways of collecting information, negotiating, forming the official position of the state and protecting national interests in the global information space.

Diplomacy is no longer just the art of negotiating behind closed doors, as it is also becoming the management of data, reputation, and trust in a digital environment.

The session is dedicated to the digital transformation of diplomatic activity under the influence of various modern technologies such as social networks, artificial intelligence and big data. The session examines how modern technologies are changing the formats of diplomatic communication, negotiations and interaction with the public, as well as discusses the challenges and opportunities of digital diplomacy, including cybersecurity issues and methods of countering deepfakes.

L6. The Partner Capital Market In Russia

Organizer: Ministry of Economy of the Republic of Tatarstan.

Most companies know only two ways to raise money: a bank or an investor with a stake. But there is a third one-partner capital. This is a billion-dollar market in the world. In Russia, he is still at the beginning of his journey. But right now, when Western funds have left, and the stakes are high, partner financing is becoming not an exotic, but an accepted and profitable reality.

What are the real prospects for the growth of the partner capital market in Russia in the current economic conditions? This is not a conversation about theory, but about first experiences, barriers, and first victories. The experts discussed how schemes involving regions, development institutions, stock exchanges, and major banks work.

N4. International program IT PARK GLOBAL Grand Opening

Organizer: Ministry of Digital Development of Public Administration, Information Technologies and Communications of the Republic of Tatarstan, IT Park.

How is the very concept of technological sovereignty changing in the era of global digital ecosystems — and does it remain relevant in the same form?

The sessions of the IT PARK GLOBAL international program in the IT zone are a practice-oriented track aimed at developing the export potential of Russian IT companies and their entry into the markets of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation countries. The program combines expert discussions, industry cases, and pitch presentations of technological solutions, creating a space for sharing experiences, establishing business contacts, and finding growth points in international markets.

IT PARK GLOBAL acts as a comprehensive support mechanism: during the sessions, an open selection of projects is held for the IT PARK GLOBAL go TO MARKET acceleration program, focused on supporting companies when scaling abroad — from product adaptation to partnerships and interaction with local markets.

The program format combines presentations by leading experts, discussion of current digital transformation trends and practical work with projects, which allows participants not only to gain relevant knowledge, but also to present their solutions to potential investors, development institutions and international partners.

Speakers of the Grand Opening program:

- Nachvin Ilya, Minister of Digital Development of Public Administration, Information Technologies and Communications of the Republic of Tatarstan;
- Gabdrakhmanov Bulat, Deputy Minister of Digital Development of Public Administration, Information Technologies and Communications of the Republic of Tatarstan;

The panel discussion will bring together Russian IT companies and international experts to have a substantive conversation about opportunities to enter the Middle East and North Africa (mena) markets. In the format of 6 pitch presentations, participants present finished products to potential partners and investors from the region, and experts will assess the market potential in the logic of "Your Needs". The discussion covers key verticals: SportTech, EventTech, traveltech and Islamic FinTech — the areas with the greatest export potential for Russian developers in the OIC markets. The session is held as part of the IT Park Global program and precedes the final selection of IT Park Global gtm Program projects, in which the best teams will participate. The event is aimed at IT companies ready for international expansion, and creates direct communication with representatives of business and government structures in Islamic countries. The Islamic fintech block discusses Sharia-compliant fintech products, digital banking and payment solutions, as well as the integration of financial services with tourism and the event industry. The SportTech unit is focused on monetization and fan experience: exporting CRM and ticketing platforms for clubs and leagues, working with fan data, and digitalizing stadiums. Within the framework of traveltech, B2G and b2b solutions for cities and countries are being considered — digital platforms for managing tourist flow, city apps, booking systems and tourist analytics for the Middle East and Asian markets. The EventTech block covers technologies for managing massive international events: accreditation and logistics platforms, security solutions, and export experiences to expos, championships, and forums. Moderator: Julia Zhiltsova, Co-founder and CEO of the Institute of Innovations in Sports, Tourism and Mass Events Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Amir Al-Musa, Director of the AAOIFI Representative Center In Russia; • Alexey Shlyapnikov, Managing Partner of VSporte, Sporttech, Media and Sports Commerce; • Augusta Geneses, Head of the Committee for the Development of Trade and Economic Partnership with the MENA Countries of the Eurasian Business Association; • Serge Focas Odunlami, Head of the Committee for the Development of Trade and Economic Cooperation in the African Region, President of the Africa Calls Association; • Vadim Prasov, Managing Partner of Alliance Hotel Management Management Company, Public Commissioner of Moscow for Asset Management in the field of Hospitality, Member of the Expert Council of the State Duma Committee on Tourism;

By the water in comfort: Yachting tourism as a driver of territorial development Organizer: Unified Institute of Spatial Planning of the Russian Federation. Yachting tourism and related infrastructure are becoming one of the most promising areas of coastal development. Water tourism and related infrastructure are becoming one of the most promising areas of coastal development. Yacht ports (marinas), harbors and multifunctional tourist complexes near the water today are not just places for mooring ships, but complex urban planning nodes that form new centers of attraction for tourists, investors and local communities. In Russia, which has a unique water potential (13 seas, the largest river systems), the development of yacht infrastructure is one of the priorities set out in the Concept of Yacht Tourism Development until 2030.

	The key challenges are the formation of a systematic approach to the placement of marinas and their design methodology. The Unified Institute of Spatial Planning of the Russian Federation (UIPP RF), commissioned by the Ministry of Construction of the Russian Federation, completed a large-scale study in 2025, "Development of proposals for the urban design of yacht ports (marinas)," which resulted in proposals for the development of a classification of yacht ports, an approach to the functional zoning and balance of the territory of yacht ports, as well as a location assessment system. In 2026, the EIPP of the Russian Federation began work on the study "Development of mechanisms for prioritizing the placement of yacht infrastructure on inland waterways, taking into account the goals of the strategic development of the Russian Federation." The results of the 2025 work and the preliminary results of the 2026 work will be the starting point for the discussion. Moderator: Alexey Matsuev, Deputy Director of the Unified Institute of Spatial Planning of the Russian Federation Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Krasnoperov Sergey, General Director of JSC "Corporation Tourism.Russian Federation"; • Tukhvatullina Ilsiya, Chief Architect of the city of Kazan; • Sattarova Dina Ilyinichna, Director of the Unified Institute of Spatial Planning of the Russian Federation; • Anna Shumeiko, CEO of the DATA company (The company develops high-performance solutions for data warehouses, analytics and automation of processes using AI); • A. S4. Territories of the 21st century: from global trends to integrated development

Organizer: Ministry of Construction, Housing and Communal Services of the Russian Federation, International Association for Territorial Development.

Goal:

Fix a limited list of key regulatory barriers (5-7) with reference to specific projects and identify the mechanism and those responsible for their creation for each, agree on the basic conditions for entry into projects for all parties (government, developers, financial institutions), including the structure of transactions and risk allocation, form a list of priority sites (2-3) with the identification of participants and the launch of negotiation processes in the format of working groups after the section, as well as to identify specific areas of international cooperation (export of development competencies, joint projects, attracting foreign investments) with the identification of potential partners and formats.

International practice demonstrates the transition from point-to-point development to integrated models of territorial development, including transport infrastructure, engineering infrastructure, social facilities, digital solutions and sustainable financial mechanisms; at the same time, the role of ICT tools, interdepartmental cooperation and public-private partnership is increasing on the Russian agenda. The section will make it possible to compare global trends with the current regulatory framework and investment realities, identify institutional constraints, formulate proposals for improving regulation, and create a practical dialogue between authorities, developers, financial institutions, and the expert community to launch economically sound and socially sustainable integrated development projects.

Moderator: Maria Sinichich, Director of the Department of Integrated Territorial Development of the Ministry of Construction, Housing and Communal Services of the Russian Federation

B7. Russia-Ethiopia

Partner organizers: Embassy of the Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia in the Russian Federation

Ethiopia is the second most populous country in Africa, one of the fastest growing economies on the continent, the gateway to the Horn of Africa and a transit hub for the entire East of Africa. At the same time, the level of bilateral trade with Russia today does not match the potential of either side. The session, organized by the Embassy of Ethiopia in the Russian Federation with the support of the REC, aims to correct this imbalance by translating diplomatic goodwill into specific contracts and investment projects.

The key question of the session: what needs to be done so that the Russian exporter stops fighting for Africa and begins to perceive Ethiopia as a clear and predictable market? What tools of the REC, regional support from Tatarstan and Moscow, and diplomatic support from the embassy can remove barriers to entry?

TRANSPORT

10:00-11:30

C7. The role of international routes in the development of foreign trade

Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Pavilion A2, Hall 3, 2nd floor

The Eurasian space is undergoing a stage of accelerated restructuring of trade and logistics routes, where Central Asia, the Volga region and the Persian Gulf countries are becoming key participants in the formation of a new geography of transportation. Traditional caravan routes and the interests of modern railway administrations intersect here, as well as transportation routes to major seaports and overland routes for industrial shippers.

The session will focus on the transformation of national infrastructure transport projects into a coherent network of international corridors with predictable logistics and a sustainable investment model. The discussion will touch upon issues of capacity regulation, multimodal hubs, digitalization of transportation documents, cross-border financing, and the role of railways, ports, and land access to Middle Eastern markets.

Special attention will be paid to Tatarstan as an internal transport hub, Kazakhstan as a transit link between China and Russia, as well as the capabilities of Syria, Qatar and the UAE in the field of transit logistics. Tracing new international transport corridors for access to the Eurasian sea gates is especially relevant for landlocked countries. In the future, the role of Russia, Kazakhstan and Central Asia in rebuilding the region's infrastructure and creating new ways of interaction will be important.

D7. Islamic Finance in the CIS - potentials and challenges

Organizer: Accounting and Auditing organizations of Islamic financial institutions AAOIFI.

With the dynamic development of the global economy and constant changes in financial markets, the urgency of mobilizing liquidity and ensuring the availability of financial resources is becoming more important than ever. An overview of current market trends demonstrates the need to adapt to new conditions, which requires flexibility and a strategic approach from market participants.

Modern financial markets face challenges related to changing investor needs and fluctuations in the economic situation. Effective mobilization of liquidity is becoming a key factor for ensuring sustainability and growth. In this context, an important aspect is the analysis of current market trends, which allows us to identify opportunities for optimizing capital and increasing financial stability.

The creation and maintenance of an effective regulatory framework is a prerequisite for ensuring the availability of financial resources. Laws and regulations should contribute not only to protecting the interests of market participants, but also to stimulating investments in key sectors of the economy. Industry experts discuss existing legislative initiatives and their impact on the development of the financial sector.

F7. Equestrian sports development: experience and best practices

Organizer: Equestrian Federation of the Russian Federation.

Equestrian sports and horse breeding have long gone beyond the scope of hobbies, becoming a serious industry with high investment potential and wide opportunities for international cooperation. Industry experts — representatives of the Equestrian Federation of Russia, the Republic of Tatarstan, the Kazan Hippodrome, as well as leading athletes from various equestrian disciplines - are discussing prospects for cooperation with the countries of the Middle and Far East, including joint projects with the UAE and Saudi Arabia. The focus is on the development of popular disciplines in the East (equestrian archery, running), the role of the Islamic world in equestrian sports, Tatarstan as the center of the Islamic hippodrome world, as well as new formats of sports and cultural partnership aimed at strengthening ties between the countries.

Moderator: Alexandra Vladimirovna Lichman, Press Secretary of the Equestrian Federation of the Russian Federation.

G7. Meeting of the Expert Group on the Development of Sports Cooperation among the participating States of the Dialogue on Cooperation in Asia

Organizer: Ministry of Sports of the Russian Federation.

Access to the event is limited (according to separate lists).

Sport is a universal language of diplomacy that does not require translation. In an environment where big-time sports are increasingly confronted with politics and attempts at isolation, the development of international sports cooperation is becoming not only a humanitarian, but also a strategic task. The Working Group on the Development of Sports Cooperation among the participating states of the DSA (Dialogue of Cooperation and Interaction) is a key mechanism for coordinating the sports agenda between Russia and friendly countries.

The Ministry of Sports of the Russian Federation is the organizer of the meeting, which brings together high-ranking representatives of relevant departments from the Middle East, Central Asia and South Asia. Leaders and experts from Afghanistan, Bahrain, Turkey, Kyrgyzstan, Palestine, Saudi Arabia, Tajikistan and other countries are present in person and via video conference.

H7. Artificial intelligence in medicine: from scientific insights to clinical applicability at the international level

Organizer: Third Opinion Platform, Innopolis University.

Currently, Russian universities are opening up new opportunities for constructive cooperation with universities and research centers of the Islamic world. The most important areas of cooperation are centered around academic mobility, the organization of international internships, joint research and the creation of bilingual educational programs.

One of the key features of such cooperation is the synergy of scientific research and cultural exchange, which makes it possible to establish deep and mutually beneficial ties between different countries and cultures.

The format of the session is not lectures, but a lively dialogue on how to combine academic science, clinical practice, regulation and business.

Key issues of the session: how can I organize international internships for doctors working with AI? What joint research projects can be launched between Russian and Egyptian (Algerian, Indian, Indonesian) centers? How can we create bilingual educational programs to train a new generation of doctors — those who are not afraid of algorithms?

The session is for the heads of the Ministry of Health, directors of medical centers, developers of AI solutions, teachers of medical universities and anyone who understands that the future of medicine belongs to man and machine working in conjunction.

Moderator: Anna Meshcheryakova, CEO of the Third Opinion Platform

Speakers:

- Dr. Ahmed Elsobki, Chairman of the Egyptian Health Authority;
- Tigran Gevorgyan, Deputy Director for the Implementation of Federal Projects of the Federal State Budgetary Institution "Blokhin National Medical Research Center of Oncology" of the Ministry of Health of the Russian Federation;

H8. Basic science and the global biomedicine and biopharmaceutical market

Organizer: Ministry of Health of the Republic of Tatarstan, Limited Liability Company "Stemtek".

Kazan Expo, Cluster A, Pavilion A2, Hall 8, 2nd floor

How can the results of fundamental biomedical research be effectively transformed into commercially successful and export—oriented solutions? What are the key stages and mechanisms of the "bridge" between science and the global market that are most critical for biopharmaceuticals and biodesign?

The session is aimed at discussing personalized precision medicine (PDM) as a fundamentally new, highly effective and economically sound model of health protection, based on integrated packages of precision diagnostics, prediction and forecasting, targeted pharmacotherapy with preventive, preventive and therapeutic-rehabilitation orientation. This structure, together with the development of personalized nutrition and foodomics, will allow us to form sustainable trends in improving the health of the population of the post-industrial world.

The topic of the discussion brings together leading Russian and international scientists to discuss the mechanisms of transformation of fundamental knowledge into biodesign and export-oriented technology platforms. Tatarstan, which has a powerful scientific and industrial base, positions itself as one of the centers for the development of biomedicine in Russia and Eurasia.

The key focus is personalized precision medicine (PCM). This is not the future, but the present.: integrated packages of precision diagnostics, risk forecasting, targeted pharmacotherapy, preventive and treatment and rehabilitation programs. In conjunction with the development of personalized nutrition (fudomics), the science of nutrition as a tool for health, PPMS can form sustainable trends in improving the health of the population of the post—industrial world.

J7, The heritage of Islam in the context of intercultural interaction: the role of museums in the modern world

Organizer: Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Tatarstan.

A museum is not a place to store antiquities. It is a meeting place of cultures, a dialogue of times and peoples. In a world where borders between states are becoming more permeable, and the flows of migrants and tourists are becoming more intense, understanding foreign culture is no longer a luxury and is becoming a vital necessity. The Islamic heritage is a huge stratum of world civilization, without which it is impossible to build a respectful and productive dialogue between Russia and the Islamic world.

Key questions: What is Egypt's experience in presenting Islamic heritage to a global audience that can be useful to Russian museums? What joint exhibition projects with museums of Islamic countries are planned in the next 1-2 years? What is the specificity of presenting Islamic heritage in a secular country with nomadic traditions?

Moderator: Safarov Marat, Political commentator at Vesti fm radio station.

K7. Interuniversity Dialogue Platform: Intercultural communication

Organizer: Department of Foreign Economic and International Relations of the City of Moscow, Foundation for International Business Communications.

Co-organizer: Ministry of Science and Higher Education of the Russian Federation.

Strategic partner of the conference session "Platform of dialogue – Mezhvuz": LLC The Ministry of Education and Science".

The specialized conference (in the round table format) is planned in preparation for the International Municipal Forum 2026, which is being held with the support of the Ministry of Economic Development of the Russian Federation and the All-Russian Association for the Development of Local Self-Government (VARMSU). The general partner of the Forum is the Moscow Government represented by the Department of Foreign Economic and International Relations of Moscow. The Foundation for International Business Communications is the operator of the BRICS 2024-2025 International Municipal Forum.

In intercultural communication, there are several main areas that differ in the object of research, methods and approaches: sociological, ethno-psychology, regional studies, art history, intercultural competencies, technologies in intercultural communication, etc.

The factor of the active role of the community in the context of intercultural communication should be noted separately. They can be either monocultural or multicultural, that is, they include representatives of different cultural groups. Intercultural communication and communities are closely linked: communities can both create barriers to effective interaction and become a platform for cultural exchange and the development of intercultural competence.

M7. Women in the economy: vectors of international cooperation

Organizer: Council of the Eurasian Women's Forum.

The growing market of goods and services in Russia and Asian countries, innovative solutions of entrepreneurs open up new opportunities for mutually beneficial international cooperation. Women contribute to its development by creating platforms for communication, sharing experiences and new ideas. Forums, competitions, international educational programs, and communities contribute to the development of tourism, humanitarian, and socio-economic projects.

Key issues of the session: Which areas and industries have the greatest growth prospects in the horizon up to 2030? What investments are most attractive to women in Russia and the countries of the Islamic world? What investment opportunities have been created for women? How do international programs for women promote the development of women's leadership and can contribute to the development of tourism in Russia and the countries of the Islamic world? What vectors of development of women's cooperation in the Asia-Pacific region and the EAEU are possible within the framework of the work of international associations in the face of new challenges?

Moderator: Karelova Galina, Chairman of the Council of the Eurasian Women's Forum

Speakers:

- Natalia Minaeva, Director of Regional Export Support Infrastructure Development, Russian Export Center JSC;
- Madame Phitira Anindhita Haerani WIBOWO, Wife Of The Ambassador Extraordinary And Plenipotentiary Of The Republic Of Indonesia;

M8. The female factor of economic growth: family, society, future

Organizer: The Union of Women of Russia.

How can we create conditions in which women's professional self—realization will be strengthened, rather than weaken the institution of the family and traditional values - and what mechanisms are needed for this?

Experts discuss the role of women in sustainable economic development — not only as a professional and entrepreneur, but also as a guardian of family and cultural values. The focus is on finding a balance between the growing economic activity of women and the preservation of traditional family orientations.

Participants analyze practical cases of successfully combining career and family responsibilities, assess the impact of women's employment on social well-being and demography, and discuss support measures ranging from government programs to corporate initiatives.

The session will become a platform for dialogue between representatives of government, business, science and public organizations. Its result is practical recommendations on the formation of a model of sustainable development, where economic growth goes hand in hand with social harmony and the preservation of spiritual and moral guidelines.

N7. International cooperation in higher and additional education: Russia and the countries of the Islamic world

Organizer: Autonomous non-profit Organization of Higher Education "Innopolis University".

Currently, Russian universities are opening up new opportunities for constructive cooperation with universities and research centers of the Islamic world. The most important areas of cooperation are centered around academic mobility, the organization of international internships, joint research and the creation of bilingual educational programs.

One of the key features of such cooperation is the synergy of scientific research and cultural exchange, which makes it possible to establish deep and mutually beneficial ties between different countries and cultures.

A particularly important aspect is the inclusion of elements of additional professional education, which allows professionals to acquire missing competencies and respond to modern challenges in a timely manner.

The participants of the track have a unique opportunity to get acquainted with practical cases of successful cooperation between Russian and foreign universities, to see real examples of how science and education combine to create qualitatively new results and contribute to strengthening friendship and mutual understanding between peoples.

N8. Technological Partnership: new opportunities for cooperation in the OIC countries

Organizer: Ministry of Informatization and Communications of the Republic of Tatarstan.

Digital transformation, technological sovereignty, new logistics and finance — these concepts define the contours of the global economy today. For the countries of the Eurasian Economic Union (EAEU) and the Middle East and North Africa

(MENA) region, the moment is coming when technological partnership becomes not just an opportunity, but a necessary condition for maintaining competitiveness. Tatarstan, which has one of the highest levels of digitalization among the regions of Russia, is the organizer of a strategic session dedicated to the search for new growth points in technological cooperation in the OIC space.

The Ministry of Informatization and Communications of the Republic of Tatarstan gathers key players of the international technology market on its site.

Key questions: What are the main barriers (regulatory, linguistic, cultural, financial) for Russian IT companies to enter the markets of the UAE, Uzbekistan and African countries? How can Russian fintech, edtech, medtech, and industrial software compete with Western and Asian players in the MENA markets?

What support and support mechanisms (export accelerators, grants, insurance, diplomatic support) are most in demand by technology companies?

Moderator: Augusta Geneses, Head of the Committee for the Development of Trade and Economic Cooperation in the MENA Region, Directorate for Trade and International Cooperation, General Director of the Legal and Financial Russian Advisory Group on Foreign Economic Activity, Certification, Customs, and Tax Support for Russian export enterprises in the MENA region, central office in the Emirate of Dubai, UAE (AG Partners Group, LLC).

S7. Labor productivity in construction and housing and communal services

Organizer: Ministry of Construction and Housing and Communal Services of the Russian Federation, NOSTROI Association, Scientific Research Institute of Building Physics of the Russian Academy of Architecture and Building Sciences.

Goal:

Discussion of systemic factors and practical tools for increasing labor productivity in construction and housing and communal services, including the introduction of modern technologies, optimization of management processes, development of human resources and improvement of regulatory regulation. Formation of proposals on scaling effective industry practices and development of international cooperation.

Increasing labor productivity is a key driver of modernization of the construction industry and housing and communal services. The success of the transformation depends on the introduction of advanced management practices, training, and technological infrastructure upgrades. The focus is on applied steps to introduce lean technologies in construction, exchange of experience in developing employee competencies, and a strategy for reforming housing and communal services, where productivity becomes the basis for improving the quality of services. Using the examples of specific cases, the mechanisms that allow the industry to reach a new level of efficiency are discussed. The section will allow combining the efforts of government, business and expert community representatives for the sustainable growth of the construction complex and modernization of the housing and communal services sector.

Moderator: Irina Dmitrievna Minina, Head of the Industry Competence Center for Design and Construction.
